1. Fellowship Overview
The McKnight Foundation’s Arts program is one of the oldest and largest of its kind in the country. Established in 1981, the McKnight Artist Fellowships provide annual, unrestricted cash awards to outstanding mid-career Minnesota artists in ten areas.

Ten arts organizations oversee the administration of the fellowships and structure their own programs to respond to the unique challenges of different creative disciplines. The Arts program supports the conviction that the arts cannot flourish or enhance community life without the ideas, energy, and drive of individual artists, and that artists cannot make these contributions without unfettered creative time.
The goal of the McKnight Community Engaged Artist Fellowships program is to identify talented Minnesota community engaged artists whose community engaged work is of exceptional artistic merit and who are at a career stage that is beyond emerging. The fellowship is limited to Community Engaged Artists who are at a stage beyond emerging. Community Engaged Artists, as defined for the purposes of this fellowship, are artists who use their artistic practice to engage relationship aimed at producing social transformation. And this intention drives choice and process throughout the conception, design, and implementation of their work.

The fellowship program supports established artists by providing significant financial assistance, by creating opportunities to meet with local and national art professionals, by organizing a public discussion series, and by working with the fellows to pilot new creative initiatives.

The Pillsbury House Theatre-administered fellowship program uses an independent jury of three arts professionals to competitively award two (2) fellowships. The fellowship runs for one year, January 1, 2020– January 1, 2021, and includes:

- $25,000 (unrestricted) Fellowship funding may be used to enhance any aspect of the artist’s life, such as overhead costs, the purchase of materials, travel, and other living expenses. Awards are subject to state and federal income tax guidelines.
- $3,000 in additional funds for a pilot initiative leading to the development of new community engaged work.
- Access to PH+T’s facilities and equipment.
- Support from PH+T staff and menu of community resources and services.
- Fellowship Discussion Series; Fellows will select a national expert in the field to be in dialogue with throughout the term of their fellowship, culminating in a public discussion about community engaged practice.

2. Application Selection and Process

Jury Panel:
A three-member panel consisting of experienced and well-respected arts professionals selects the McKnight Fellows. The jurors are professionals with an appreciation for and knowledge of diverse community engaged art practices. All panelists are from outside Minnesota. PH+T intentionally seeks to build a review panel that includes members representing diverse ethnic, gender, sexual orientation, geographic perspectives and worldviews.

_The McKnight Visual Arts Fellowship panelists remain anonymous during the selection process. The names of the panelists are revealed once the fellowship recipients are announced._

Review Process:
Applicants are evaluated and selected based on the transformative impact of their work as evidenced in submitted materials, and work samples. Consideration is given to accomplishments to date as well as promise for continued development and the impact the fellowship will have on the artist. The panel will also be asked to consider the breadth of artistic practices among Minnesota community engaged artists, which include a wide range of media, aesthetic considerations, social engagement, relationship to defined community, and cultural traditions that might be influenced by race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, and geography.

Jurors will use the following criteria when reviewing all submitted application materials:

Artistic Merit: The artist presents a sustained commitment to community engaged art practice, risk-taking, and clear concepts and creative methodologies that advance social and artistic purposes beyond individual perspective or experience.

Transformative Impact: The artist’s creative practice clearly creates social transformation; collective meaning making, collective empowerment, and social/political/cultural resonance, value, or change.

Creative Integrity: The artist’s work demonstrates integrity and ethical use of material with specific cultural origins and context, demonstrates responsible social and/or environmental practice, disrupts and challenges dominant norms or standards, and models new forms of creative action.

Engagement with defined communities: There is a clear articulation of the role and relationship of the artist with the communities in which they are engaged. The artist engages in equitable creative practice which accounts for social/structural/systemic inequities.

First Round: The jury panel reviews submissions for the first round. Their decisions will be tabulated and the 8 applicants with the highest numerical score will move onto the next round.
Second Round: In a conference call the three panelists discuss the top 4 applicants. Those applicants receiving the greatest interest will be contacted to schedule final in-person presentations. Email notification will be sent to all applicants not progressing to the final round by Nov. 22, 2019.

Final jury presentations for Finalists: The Program Director will notify by phone the artists identified for final review by Nov. 22, 2019. For the final round of jurying, the panel convenes in Minnesota to review presentations facilitated by the 4 finalists. Finalists will be given $200 in resources to prepare their presentations. Following the in-person presentations the committee selects two fellowship recipients. The Program Director will work with any finalist resides outside the Twin Cities to make alternative arrangements to meet the jurors.

Notification: Upon completion of the final presentation, the Program Director will call the two fellowship recipients and email the other finalists of the results. The Program Office will notify all applicants via email of the jurors’ final decision by January 17, 2020.

PH+T fellowship staff who oversee the McKnight Fellowship program do not contribute to the decision-making process or the selection of the McKnight Community Engaged Artist Fellows. The role of the staff is to provide clarity for the review process and to ensure that the panel review and discussion proceed in accordance with the program’s guidelines.

6. FAQs

Preparing and Resizing Images: Overview

Saving your Image as a JPG:

If your image is saved in a format other than JPEG (.tiff, .psd, .pict, etc.) it will not work. You can save your image as a .jpg in multiple ways. In Photoshop and most other image editing programs, you can go to File > Save As in the menu. Name the file, keeping the extension .jpeg. Under "Format," select "JPEG." You'll get a box called "JPEG Options," which lets you set quality. In general, a higher quality setting (10 or 12) is better, so long as the size does not exceed 5 MB

To Reduce File Size:
The steps will vary depending on the photo editing program you are using; see Resources section for photo-editing software options. Below are generalized instructions for Photoshop:

1. If possible, it is best to start out with an original uncompressed image file that has been prepped - cropped, adjusting contrast, adjusting color, sharpen, etc. Jpeg files work fine if a raw or tiff is not available.

2. Open the file in Adobe Photoshop.

3. Go to Image - Image Size to open the Image Size dialogue box.

4. Set Resolution to 72 ppi (pixels per inch; Uncheck “Resample Image,” before you change the resolution. Afterwards, recheck “Resample Image.”

5. Click OK.

6. Save As or Save for Web. Go to File > Export > Save for Web (Legacy) to open the Save for Web dialogue box.

7. Make sure the Setting is JPEG

8. Quality should be between 70-90

9. Make sure sRGB is checked.

10. Click Save

11. Save Optimized image as JPG in a folder that is easy to find on your computer.

12. Name it something easy to remember, like jeromeimage1.jpg.

13. Click Save (leave all other options as is, i.e., format, settings, slices)

14. You are now done with the first image. Now repeat these steps for the rest of the images you plan to upload to your application.

How will the jury see my application?
The jury will look at your applications using an online jurying platform via Submittable. This means they will see each image individually at its full size (not as the small preview you see when you submit your application). Images will be viewed in the order you submit them (i.e., Image 1 will be first, Image 10 will be last). Title, media, and other information you submit with the images will be displayed with each image, and the jury will be able to view your résumé and artist statement as well.

Are the jurors’ monitors calibrated?
No. It is possible that your color settings will differ very slightly from each juror’s settings, but it will not make any appreciable difference to the jury's review of your work.

7. Resources

Photo Services:
FedEx Kinko's
Probably the most widespread and one-stop option, these stores have computers with Adobe Photoshop and Microsoft Word, can scan your slides or photographs and burn CDs. Visit www.fedex.com to find the location nearest you.

Springboard for the Arts has a great site to locate local professionals to document and digitize your work. Visit it online at their Art Service Directory.
Digital Imaging Software:
There are a variety of products that can help you format your images successfully. Packaged software is available to purchase as well as free downloadable software. Recently various websites are offering online image editing tools as well.

Adobe (http://www.adobe.com) currently provides two photo editing products—Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Elements—that are very popular among today's designers and artists. Adobe Elements, the less-expensive option, provides a free 30-day trial if you would like to try the program before purchasing.

Get Paint (http://www.getpaint.net), a free open-source program for Windows-based computers, can also help to format images successfully. If you are a Mac user, download Gimp (http://www.gimp.org), a useful image-editing program. Sumo (http://www.sumopaint.com), Aviary (http://aviary.com/home), and Pixlr (http://www.pixlr.com) are some of the few websites out there that offer image-editing right in the browser.

Books:
Numerous books and articles are available on the subject of digital photography and imaging. A trip to the local bookstore or camera shop, a visit to amazon.com, or an Internet search for something like "take good digital photographs" or "scanning slides" should turn up plenty of information sources. We've found that Digital Photography: An Introduction by Tom Ang is a helpful guide to the basics of the medium. Chapters 3 and 4 are especially helpful for turning your existing images into digital files. It retails for about $15.

Arts Advocacy Organizations:

MNartists.org
MNartists.org offers some "how-to" help with digitizing images. Their website has a list of technology resources and Arts Advocacy organizations. They periodically run workshops on digitizing images and uploading them to the Internet. www.mnartists.org
